

Shoots To Death Man He Alleges Wronged His Three Daughters

Salvatore Gerino Tells Troopers He Murdered His Brother-in-Law, Vito Drogo, After Search of Two Years.

Two years ago Salvatore Gerino alleges his brother-in-law, Vito Drogo, wronged three of his daughters and since that time Gerino has been searching for Drogo. The search came to a close last night about 7 o'clock when Drogo alighted from a truck near the Lester Clarke farm on the Ridge Road about 150 yards over the Ulster county line in Orange county. There Gerino had been in wait for his victim and when Drogo alighted five shots were fired. Four struck Drogo and the fifth went wild. Drogo dropped to the ground with a bullet in his head, one in his shoulder and two in his stomach. He died at 9:07 last evening at St. Luke's Hospital where he had been taken.

Gerino was picked up about 9 miles from the scene by Corporal Norman Baker and Trooper Kline of the New Palz patrol who with Sergeant John Lockhart and Trooper N. Baker of the Highland patrol had been summoned to the scene of the shooting. At the time of the arrest Gerino was walking along the Newburgh-Walkill road. He did not resist arrest and stated that he was satisfied that his victim had died. He told of the wrong which had been done his daughters two years ago and said he had thrown the gun away.

Gerino according to the story which was later secured from Coney Island with his family. He is about 39 years old. For two years he has sought Drogo, who is his brother-in-law, and a short time ago learned that Drogo was working on a farm in the vicinity of Marlborough. He came to that vicinity last Saturday and since that time has been in hiding in the woods waiting for his brother-in-law to show himself. Drogo was working on the Romano farm, Mrs. Romano being an aunt of both men.

Last evening the victim appeared and alighted from a truck. Five shots were fired and the murderer in the excitement walked off.

At about 7:05 p. m. a call was sent to Sergeant Lockhart at Highland notifying him of the shooting. The call was sent in by the supervisor of the Newburgh telephone office. The message was that there had been a shooting at the Lester Clarke farm. It was at first believed that the shooting had taken place in Ulster county but later it was learned that the act had been just across in Orange county. Sergeant Lockhart and Trooper L. Baker left immediately and a few minutes later Corporal Baker and Trooper Kline arrived at the Highland office of the Troopers and Mrs. Lockhart informed them of the shooting and they immediately set out to follow Sergeant Lockhart.

At the scene the facts were learned and Under Sheriff Truesdale of Orange county took charge and the Troopers set out to find the man who did the shooting. A description was given them by people at the Romano farm. It was said that Gerino had left the scene with a gun.

Sergeant Lockhart and Trooper L. Baker started down route 9-W and Corporal Baker and Trooper Kline took the other road. It was about 9 miles from the scene of the shooting that they overtook their man walking on the road leading from Walkill to Newburgh. He was arrested and turned over to the Orange county authorities.

The revolver was an old model which Gerino claims to have purchased when he came to this country in 1907. He is not a citizen of the country.

The injured man was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where he died shortly after being admitted. Gerino was lodged in the Newburgh Jail pending a hearing on a charge of murder.

Gerino has a wife and six children residing at Coney Island. Drogo is also married and is believed to have two children living in New York city. Gerino since coming to Ulster county said he lived in a shack in the woods and searched for his brother-in-law in the vicinity of the farm where he had been working.

ARMY OFFICERS' WIVES TRADED HUSBANDS

Leavenworth, Kas., Aug. 23 (AP).—For love's sake, two army officers have traded wives legally.

Says Captain William B. Bradford: "It is natural for a man to fall in love with another man's wife and for a woman to fall in love with another man's husband."

Thus he explained why Mrs. Stuart MacDonald, a brunette, became Mrs. Bradford, and his own wife, a blonde, became the wife of Major MacDonald.

Together, Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. Bradford went to Bentonville, Ark., where they established residence to take advantage of the 30-day divorce law. They lived in the same house. They were represented by the same attorney.

After Lee Sumner, judge in charge, granted the decrees, the two husbands appeared to complete the strange marital exchange. Together they went to the county clerk's offices and secured marriage licenses. Then both couples were married by Frank Lloyd, justice of the peace.

Captain Bradford and the former Mrs. MacDonald have returned to Fort Leavenworth. Major MacDonald and the former Mrs. Bradford have gone to a civilian camp in Pennsylvania where he is stationed.

Necessary Waivers Signed, All Depositors Of Bank Are Bound Legally To New Plan

Tuesday afternoon at a general meeting of the Depositors' Committee of the National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company, it was announced that better than 75% in amount of all unsecured deposits had waived.

This meets the Washington requirements and thereby legally binds the remaining unsecured depositors. However, until the new bank officially takes over the assets and liabilities of the old bank additional waivers will be received from all depositors who have not yet signed.

The Depositors' Committee is anxious to report to Washington that they have received 100% voluntary waivers.

It is further reported by the Depositors' Committee that approximately 90% of the required capital of the new bank is in hand. This money has come from depositors, stockholders and outside interests.

The no double liability feature for a bank stock has attracted outside capital who recognize the potential earning power of the new National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company of Kingston.

Under the new Glass-Steagall bill, no interest is allowed on demand deposits and in this Federal Reserve district 3 1/2% is the maximum to be paid by commercial banks on time deposits.

Northeast and Tropical Hurricane Paralyze Coast

"Hurricane" Type Storm Will Strike Nation's Capital

Advances Notice of Expected Gale This Morning Left Washington in Drizzling Rain and High Wind—Near Hurricane Intensity, Say Officials.

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP).—A violent storm, described variously by naval and weather bureau officials as of "hurricane" or near hurricane intensity, was reported by the bureau today to be sweeping inland from the Virginia capes on a generally northwesterly course.

Bureau officials estimated that if the storm, which weaved a sinuous, shifting, snake-like course, as it came up from the south, maintained its present northwesterly direction it would pass over the national capital before midnight.

Although it left a trail of distressed shipping in its wake, weather bureau officials were of the opinion that its force would be considerably dissipated when it moved inland.

Nevertheless, R. H. Weightman, weather bureau forecaster, said the storm which early today battered against the Virginia coast, had done the unusual for a disturbance, originating in the tropics by striking north of Cape Hatteras with great intensity.

He said the disturbance was near "hurricane intensity" but that no winds had been reported to observers here as yet which would put it in that category.

However, at the navy department officials of the bureau of aeronautics asserted that at 8 a. m., E. S. T., the storm off the Virginia capes had reached "force 10—the most severe recording of a storm." It was described as a "hurricane."

Lines of communication in Virginia and parts of Maryland were disrupted during the morning, and no reports were available of the damage done.

The steamer Madison, with about 90 persons aboard, sent out distress signals from near Cape Charles, Virginia.

The coast guard sent aid, while the navy department ordered the cruiser Indianapolis, which recently took President Roosevelt down the coast from Campobello, N. B., to stand by to aid.

Advance warnings of the storm reached the capital early in the morning in a drizzling rain and high wind.

A large elm opposite the White House on Pennsylvania avenue, was blown across the street, its top branches brushing a taxicab.

Another barely missed crashing down on a moving street car in front of the public library. No one was hurt.

Milk Dealers Tell Board Their Plight As Bad As Farmers

Claim They Sustained Heavy Losses in Their Businesses During Recent Months—Say There Is Still Price Cutting in New York City.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP).—A group of New York city milk dealers told the State Milk Control Board today that their plight was as bad as that of the farmers, that they had been suffering heavy losses in their business in recent months.

At the same time Henry S. Manley, counsel to the milk board, made the announcement that New York state farmers will get $4,000,000 more for their August milk than they received for an equal quantity of milk in March.

"This farmer price increase of 50 per cent in four months stands almost entirely to the credit of the milk control board," Manley said. The board's counsel declared that farmers received $5,000,000 in March and will get $9,000,000 in August. He made his statement in a prepared speech for delivery before the Cobleskill Rotary Club.

The milk dealers were heard at a continuation of the board's newest series of hearings on the problems of farmers, dealers and consumers.

"I see by the papers," said Julius Marcus, a small New York city dealer, "that the board is going to check up on dealers' profits. We can't wait to be checked up. We need help immediately."

Marcus and other dealers said they need an increase of one cent in their share of the amount the consumer pays for a quart of milk.

"Since the existence of the control board we have continuously been losing money," Marcus said. "I sell 400 cans of milk a day and employ 23 people. In July I lost $4,900. I want to give a wage increase to my employees, but I can't."

P. A. Miller, a New York city wholesaler, told Dr. Thomas Parran, J., presiding member of the board, that serious price cutting by dealers still exists in New York city. He said his company had lost the sale of 4,000 cases of milk a day, "mostly due to price-cutting down in Center street."

He said an inspector for the milk board had heard with him the assertion of at least one grocer that he was receiving free milk.

"How can those dealers afford to do that?" Dr. Parran asked. Miller replied that they might do it by making false returns under the classification price system, or that they might "employ very cheap labor or be willing to pick up lots of business at a loss now in anticipation of improved prices later."

Dr. Parran instructed Fred Leete, secretary of the board, to get in touch with the New York city office immediately for a full report later in the day on the incident Miller said the board's inspector had witnessed.

Government May Fix Price of Milk

Tentative Plan Written to Govern Amount of Milk Produced and Price to Be Paid—Will Blanket Entire Country.

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP).—The government is about to fix the price paid for the milk that is set on nearly every doorstep or porch in the country.

The plan so far is just tentative as to details and is being written by farm administration officials and dairymen. At most, the officials feel, the result should be an average increase in cost to the consumer of one cent a quart.

It would work this way: For the country as a whole, there would be a central blanket agreement, covering all fluid milk and outlining policies and fair trade practices. Codes then would be drawn for each milk shed. Each area producing and consuming its own milk. These would fix the farm, wholesale and retail prices of milk.

If a majority of fluid milk producers and handlers accepted the blanket agreement, it and its supplementary codes would be effective on all.

Also included in the plan is the idea of limiting to five or six cents the difference between what the consumer gets for his milk and what the drinkers pay for it, thus restricting the middleman's profit, the "spread."

There is involved, likewise, a plan for controlling the amount of milk produced and sold.

The parade committee invites all labor, service, civic, fraternal, patriotic and musical organizations, and all NRA factory, commercial and consumers groups to parade.

The parade will start downtown at 2 p. m. and will march uptown. At its conclusion, an NRA banner will be raised, with appropriate ceremonies, on the City Hall lawn. Residents along the line of march are asked to decorate buildings and display flags in honor of the event.

Factories and business establishments are urged to cooperate with the parade committee by placing floats in the parade.

The NRA parade is intended to be an instrument through which labor, employer and consumer may give an expression of faith in and support to the national recovery program. This program cannot be successful unless it has undivided support.

As a demonstration of the loyalty of our citizens to the recovery program, and as an indication of their faith in the future of our country, I respectfully urge that all invited units parade as a patriotic duty and that the NRA parade be given city-wide support and cooperation.

Chief Murphy will start formulating plans for the march at once and all merchants, organizations or industries contemplating having floats or marching units in the parade are requested to communicate with him as early as possible.

OIL HEIRESS SEEKING END TO HER MARRIAGE

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—Dark-eyed Janet Snowden, heiress to oil millions, tearfully looked to the law today to undo her six-day marriage to an Italian prince—a marriage she calls a "mistake."

Less than a week after a whirlwind courtship culminated in a 19-year-old society girl's elopement and marriage to Prince Di Sirignano Don Francesco Caravita, the romance came to a sudden end yesterday.

Lugging their baggage, she and her maid went to bachelor girls' quarters in a hotel. She said, weeping: "I admit it was all a mistake. I have left the prince and I shall not go back."

The separation resulted, the princess said, from her discovery that she did not love the prince.

The romance she called "a mistake" began only two weeks ago when the couple met for the first time. The princess denied a report that she had married the prince to "appeal" another man whom she loved.

Prince Caravita, a noted racing driver in his homeland, could not be located but a close friend quoted him as saying the whole thing would "blow over."

Exhibitors, Officials And Workers Hurry To Have Fair Ready For Opening Tonight

Forty-fifth Annual Exhibition of Ulster County Agricultural Society Opens Tonight in New York State Armory on N. Manor Avenue—Drill Shed Filled With Booths and Exhibits—Dancing, Theatre and Displays.

The big drill shed at the new state armory on North Manor avenue was a busy place this morning as officials and workers of the various farm organizations, department heads and concessionaires, strove to erect booths and arrange exhibits for the 45th annual exhibition of the Ulster County Agricultural Society. And they will have to keep busy if all the numerous departments and exhibits are in place and ready for public inspection at the hour set as the dead line by Secretary E. W. Hathaway—5 o'clock this afternoon.

Through the courtesy of Major Hiltbrant practically the entire armory plant has been turned over to the society for this fair, which officially opens this evening and which will continue until 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The drill shed will be fully taken up with booths and exhibits of all kinds. The fine ballroom will be opened Wednesday and Thursday evenings for dancing. Music will be furnished by Paul Zucca's eight-piece orchestra and this new feature of the fair is expected to draw large crowds; both evenings. Orson Beatty will be in charge and dancing will start at 9 o'clock.

The large reading room at the right of the entrance to the armory has been cleared and turned over to Judge L. C. Barnes of New Palz, in charge of the "Little Theatre" part of the fair program. A platform will be erected and on it seven of the Granges of the county will give one act plays Wednesday and Thursday evenings. This evening plays will be given by members of the Rosendale, Lake Katrine and Plattekill Granges. Thursday evening Highland, Spring Glen, New Palz and Milton Granges will be represented. The plays will start about 8 o'clock each evening.

The ladies of the Ulster County Home Bureau have taken over the kitchen and large hall adjoining and were hard at work this morning getting everything in readiness for their serving of refreshments during the fair. They promise good, wholesome food at reasonable prices. Service will be in the large hall adjoining. In addition, Harry Davis of Kerhonkson is scheduled to be on hand and display his salesmanship abilities as presiding genius at a hot dog stand to be located on the main "fair ground."

There is a good representation of commercial houses among the exhibitors, the following having taken concessions: Valentin Burgeria, Inc., E. Winter's Sons, Ross & Gorman, M. H. Herzog, Gross & Schoonmaker, King's Landscaping Service, F. B. Matthews, J. Pallinski, Everett & Treadwell, Colonial Electrical Appliances, Kingston Lumber Co., G. L. F. Exchange, Harder Electric Company, Kalamazoo Stoves, Howard's Popcorn Shop and Weber's Pyrex Gas.

Most of these exhibits were yet to be placed at noon today. The Colonial Electrical Appliances had their large booth in the center of the drill shed, practically completed and their exhibit of radios, washing machines, ranges, refrigerators, etc., arranged. The Rose & Gorman Modern Kitchen and displays of refrigerators, washing machines and ranges, was also rapidly setting into shape. Nearby down his wire fence and the third had entered his home and destroyed some furniture. Mr. Leonard was represented in police court this morning by former Mayor Palmer Canfield.

Howard Saulpaugh of Cedar street, arrested for public intoxication on Washington avenue Tuesday night, just stood and looked at Judge Culliton when asked how he pleaded to the charge of public intoxication.

"Were you drunk last night?" He was fined $5.

John LaMott of Springwater and Charles Elliott of Bedford, both arrested for panhandling, were given a suspended jail sentence of ten days each, provided they left town within the hour.

GANDHI RELEASED AS HE GROWS MUCH WEAKER

Poona, India, Aug. 23 (AP).—The Mahatma Gandhi was unconditionally released from custody today.

The frail Nationalist leader was in the eighth day of his fast in protest against the government's refusal to grant him privileges to carry on his campaign in behalf of the untouchable class.

Because he steadily was growing weaker, he was removed to the civil hospital recently from Yeroda jail, where he had been serving a one-year sentence for civil disobedience.

It was reported previously that should his illness become critical he would be released as would any prisoner under the same conditions.

Adjoining is the Farm and Home Bureau exhibit, which was being arranged by Manager Kurdt this afternoon. It will emphasize the idea of using Ulster county products and will feature the principal products of the county, such as fruit, vegetables, dairy products, poultry, etc.

NRA Question Box

Question: Should municipalities sign the Certificate of Compliance as employers of labor and put into effect the provisions of the President's Re-employment Agreement?

Answer: Municipalities, as such, are exempt except that cooperation of this kind should be considered a patriotic duty. The State of Wisconsin is an example of such action on the part of a municipality.

Question: Can a violation of a sign of a Certificate of Compliance be punished and the Blue Eagle removed?

Answer: Yes. This Certificate is mailed to Washington and any violation becomes liable under the Federal Law covering fraud perpetrated by mail.

Question: Where employers are paid on a piece-work basis, shall they receive the minimum wage for a maximum week of work?

Answer: Yes. Except that the income of a worker of average ability, employed for an average week, may be the basis if this income is up to the minimum fixed in the code.

Question: If the working hours are materially shortened, may wages in factory operation be reduced?

Answer: Yes, if the reduction is equitable. For example, a reduction from a sixty-hour week to one of thirty-five would work a hardship and, in this case, income may be reduced on an equitable basis. For this adjustment, an increase of three-sevenths of the former wage rate is considered a fair average.

Missing Publisher Found Dead In River

Cochecton, O., Aug. 23 (AP).—Round and weighted down with a hammer, a plow-point and lead smelt, the body of Fred S. Wallace, 61 year old missing newspaper publisher, was found in the Muskingum River two miles from here last night.

Dr. F. W. Craig, county coroner, immediately took charge of the body. He withheld his verdict, while Prosecutor Russell E. Lyons began a study of the publisher's disappearance three days ago and the circumstances of his death.

Wallace, who was publisher and editor of the Cochecton Tribune, was last seen alive when he left the newspaper office early Sunday morning, apparently to walk to his home, one block away.

For two days his family feared he had suffered a lapse of memory due to an illness for which he had been under treatment. Yesterday his son, Robert, a Cleveland newspaperman, asked authorities to make a statewide search for his father.

Two young men camping along the river found the body on the edge of the stream. The head bore cuts over the right eye and the right ear, his ankles were bound with baling wire, a plow-point was fastened to his clothing, and a hammer had been stuck in his belt.

Legislature May Agree on Tax Plan

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP).—Signs of an agreement on a tax bill to enable New York City to raise money for unemployment relief, which would mean the end of the special session of the legislature by tomorrow, appeared at the capitol today.

Assemblyman Irwin W. Steingut, Tammany Hall leader in the lower house, said he expected the Republicans and the Democrats would be able to agree on a tax plan by the time the assembly reconvenes this afternoon.

"I think we are going to be able to get together," Steingut said. "That would probably mean we would be able to adjourn by tomorrow night."

The Republicans have been objecting to the Tammany plan for giving New York City blanket authority to levy new taxes for unemployment relief, claiming that the bill as passed by the Democratic senate might make some of the taxes, such as the stock transfer tax, apply to upstate residents. Tammany Hall, on the other hand, has been claiming that the proposed Republican amendments to the bill were intended to "ham string" the whole tax program.

Lost Control of Car, It Crashed, 2 Hurt

An automobile accident on the Ellenville-Kingston highway this morning resulted in the injury of Edward J. Ferguson and his wife, Florence M. Ferguson of 146 Homestead avenue, Albany, the two occupants of the damaged car.

The accident occurred about a mile from the village of Accord.

Both occupants of the car were taken to the Kingston Hospital. Mrs. Ferguson suffered a bad laceration of the right arm, and other undetermined injuries. She is still confined to the hospital. Mr. Ferguson was badly cut about the forehead, but was able to leave the hospital shortly after treatment.

GRAND JURY SUMMONED TO RETURN INDICTMENTS.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 23 (AP).—Under the watchful eyes of more than two score heavily armed guards, a federal grand jury was summoned today to return indictments against alleged kidnapers of Charles F. Urschel, just one month and one day after the oil millionaire was snatched from his palatial town house.

Harvey Bailey, much-wanted "master mind" of spectacular crimes, will face trial for the kidnaping here before being taken before other courts. District Attorney Hyde said. Bailey may be tried later for the June 17 slaying on the Kansas City union station plaza of four officers and a French convict. Bailey could be hanged on conviction of murder in Missouri.

Fearing a repetition of the Kansas City slayings, which resulted from an attempt to free Jack Joseph B. Keenan, special assistant U. S. attorney general, suggested Bailey be brought to trial in an "iron cage."

Of the men wanted in connection with the Urschel kidnaping, George "Machine Gun" Kelly remains at large.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENT IN CROP CONDITIONS

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP).—Further improvement in crop conditions in the state is noted in the weekly summary issued by the United States Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau here.

"More rain is needed in the western half, especially for plowing," the report continues. "Threshing continues with variable yields. Pastures and meadows have made good improvement in some sections but slow in others. Buckwheat is in all stages of growth and much of it is short. Corn and late potatoes continue to improve."

"Early beans are being cut, but they are poor; late planted beans are making good growth, although they are not settling heavy. Cabbage has been greatly benefitted by recent rains. In spite of recent growth conditions there seems to be an abundant supply of home grown truck in the markets. Peaches are being offered in a larger volume and the pear harvest has begun. Apples continue to make good growth."

More students are graduated yearly from Kansas high schools than were enrolled in all the schools of the state 30 years ago.

CHAPTER 22
COLIN ESCAPES

FIGURES came racing round the side of the clubhouse—and, halting abruptly, gathered around Lazarre. There came then a medley of voices raised in execration and blasphemy. They all talked at once. The words reached Colin in disjointed snatches:

"... Kenniston's croaked out there. ... That makes two with Gregg. ... The cover's blown off the works. ... Ten spaces, maybe twenty, if we're caught. ... We got to beat it out of here before anyone comes nosing around. ... Get Lazarre down to the boat. ... Better save some of our clothes in there. If we can. ... Wise up, W.P. ... There'll be a glass wagon and no flowers coming to Doltaire for this. ... If we work fast enough we can get Lazarre across the border before the cops get their car mufflers off. ... Maybe he won't live. ... Aw, he ain't so bad. ... We got to give him a break anyhow. ... Maybe Doltaire and his schooner are still in the river. ... He didn't come that way, he went off through the woods toward Cap A l'Orange. ... That sneaking rat of a spy. ..."

Colin edged deeper in among the trees; then, moving cautiously, began to make his way back around the clearing. A hundred yards away, satisfied that between the crackling of the flames and the constant roar of the falls no sound he would hear, he broke into a run which he was possible to do so.

His one object now was to reach Germaine and get away before the power boat started down the river—for, dark as the shadows were, close in there against the bank, there was always the risk of the launch being seen. He did not want to be seen now; and above all he did not want Germaine to be seen. It would take fifteen minutes at the very least, he was certain, for the "members" to salvage what they could of their personal belongings, carry Lazarre down to the power boat, and get the power boat under way. Surely he could make the launch in much less time than that.

He made it in five.

Germaine had evidently heard him coming. She was standing up in the launch. The engine was running.

"Let's go!" He spoke nonchalantly—or thought he did—as he jumped in beside her.

She leaned forward and peered for an instant into his face.

"Sit down!" she commanded.

"You look like a ghost. I'll handle the boat."

He did not protest. He had forgotten about his head. Rather queer that it should suddenly start troubling him again! He felt almost giddy.

"All right!" he said. "But step on it. The power boat will be along shortly—and it's moonlight."

"We'll keep out of the moon's path," she answered. "If they haven't started yet, we'll be so far away they'll never see us."

THE launch spurred out from the bank. Colin dragged his hand in the water, and at moments surreptitiously bathed his head. There was no sign of the power boat. She had nursed the engine to top speed. The launch was cleaving the smooth water like an arrow.

Suppose Lazarre lived! Suppose Lazarre died? In either case Lazarre would no longer be here—on the north shore. What was he to do? A thought flashed through his mind—starring him. He pondered it a moment. The germ of it grew—flourished. Like the next chapter! That ubiquitous analogy!

"Colin," she questioned anxiously, "are you really all right?"

"Absolutely!" he lied convincingly. "My wrists were a bit numb at first, of course, but they're as good as ever now. I'm perfectly fit, dear—"

STROKES OF GENIUS

by SAMUEL JOHNSON & ALFRED PARKER

A STATUE MADE OF 28 PIECES, EACH WEIGHING BETWEEN 5 AND 42 TONS!

Lincoln

by DANIEL CHESTER FRENCH

A NEW ENGLAND farm boy who idly whittled his father's turnips into little frogs was the creator of the impressive figure of Abraham Lincoln in the Lincoln Memorial, Potomac Park, Washington, D. C.

The huge statue weighs 270 tons and towers 27 feet above its base, the head alone being more than four feet high. Because of its tremendous size the monument was carved in 28 separate pieces, which when put together fitted perfectly. Yet the figure was executed from a small wax model hardly two and a half feet high!

The lonely immortal statesman is shown as he is meditating over the peace to come, with traces of the vast struggle through which he led the nation still visible on his sensitive, relaxed face. The 70-year-old French was chosen to do the Lincoln statue, which was completed in 1920, because of his ability to endow his marble figures with a gentle, human quality that makes them unforgettable. As Emerson remarked in 1879 after seeing the bust which French modeled of him, "Yes, that is the face that I shelve!"

COLIN ESCAPES

FIGURES came racing round the side of the clubhouse—and, halting abruptly, gathered around Lazarre. There came then a medley of voices raised in execration and blasphemy. They all talked at once. The words reached Colin in disjointed snatches:

"... Kenniston's croaked out there. ... That makes two with Gregg. ... The cover's blown off the works. ... Ten spaces, maybe twenty, if we're caught. ... We got to beat it out of here before anyone comes nosing around. ... Get Lazarre down to the boat. ... Better save some of our clothes in there. If we can. ... Wise up, W.P. ... There'll be a glass wagon and no flowers coming to Doltaire for this. ... If we work fast enough we can get Lazarre across the border before the cops get their car mufflers off. ... Maybe he won't live. ... Aw, he ain't so bad. ... We got to give him a break anyhow. ... Maybe Doltaire and his schooner are still in the river. ... He didn't come that way, he went off through the woods toward Cap A l'Orange. ... That sneaking rat of a spy. ..."

Colin edged deeper in among the trees; then, moving cautiously, began to make his way back around the clearing. A hundred yards away, satisfied that between the crackling of the flames and the constant roar of the falls no sound he would hear, he broke into a run which he was possible to do so.

His one object now was to reach Germaine and get away before the power boat started down the river—for, dark as the shadows were, close in there against the bank, there was always the risk of the launch being seen. He did not want to be seen now; and above all he did not want Germaine to be seen. It would take fifteen minutes at the very least, he was certain, for the "members" to salvage what they could of their personal belongings, carry Lazarre down to the power boat, and get the power boat under way. Surely he could make the launch in much less time than that.

He made it in five.

Germaine had evidently heard him coming. She was standing up in the launch. The engine was running.

"Let's go!" He spoke nonchalantly—or thought he did—as he jumped in beside her.

She leaned forward and peered for an instant into his face.

"Sit down!" she commanded.

"You look like a ghost. I'll handle the boat."

He did not protest. He had forgotten about his head. Rather queer that it should suddenly start troubling him again! He felt almost giddy.

"All right!" he said. "But step on it. The power boat will be along shortly—and it's moonlight."

"We'll keep out of the moon's path," she answered. "If they haven't started yet, we'll be so far away they'll never see us."

THE launch spurred out from the bank. Colin dragged his hand in the water, and at moments surreptitiously bathed his head. There was no sign of the power boat. She had nursed the engine to top speed. The launch was cleaving the smooth water like an arrow.

Suppose Lazarre lived! Suppose Lazarre died? In either case Lazarre would no longer be here—on the north shore. What was he to do? A thought flashed through his mind—starring him. He pondered it a moment. The germ of it grew—flourished. Like the next chapter! That ubiquitous analogy!

"Colin," she questioned anxiously, "are you really all right?"

"Absolutely!" he lied convincingly. "My wrists were a bit numb at first, of course, but they're as good as ever now. I'm perfectly fit, dear—"

Americans In Vienna Jolted As Dollar Dwindles In Value

Vienna (A.P.)—The falling dollar has jolted Americans in Austria right in the middle of their budgets.

Travelers from the United States who arrived early in July cut short their stay because of the dwindling purchasing power of their national currency.

Americans maintaining households here, including those in the diplomatic and consular service, took deep breaths and began figuring out a new approach to the problem of "living cheaply abroad."

Those who had been paying $100 a month rent in Austria, suddenly found their housing cost boosted to $140, with no chance of getting out of the leases on that score.

Coffee now costs about $1.40 a pound and tea of good average grade $1. But these beverages are listed as luxuries by the Austrian government, and other articles are not so costly. For example:

Beefsteak, 55 cents; pork, 40 cents; veal, 54 cents; mutton, 60 cents; ham, 70 cents; sugar 11 cents.

Fruit is sold by the pound, apples costing 22 cents and bananas 21. Bread is 10 cents a loaf, milk a dozen a quart, eggs 30 to 40 cents a dozen and butter 40 cent a pound.

One result is that eggs poached in milk and served on toast has become a popular dish with American housewives.

Queen Speaks.

Rome (A.P.)—Queen Elena has accepted the honorary presidency of a women's anti-bisphemy committee which launched a nation-wide campaign against profanity.

Women's Rights in China.

Women in China never were the quiescent. When the Manchus ordered the Chinese to wear this badge of subjugation the women refused to comply.

Talks to Parents

Hobbies As Necessities
By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Probably the most contented and happiest families are those with hobbies.

It makes little difference what the hobbies are, whether they are foolish or serious—the one essential is that they be whole-souled and absorbing. They are bound to vary according to individual tastes, and even more according to age and development.

The parents' hobbies in all probability will remain the same from year to year; the older children's will tend to become permanent; and the smaller fry will change from day to day or from week to week, the periods becoming longer as the hobby-riders grow older.

The chief thing is to have the ideal of a special interest set before them in earliest infancy, so that the need for acquiring a real hobby is firmly ingrained in their minds, and they have the same ambition to attain it that they have about going to college or learning a trade.

Our vocations we must have if we are to keep our bodies alive. Bread and butter and a roof to shelter us are to be gotten only by hard work at a trade or profession and holding down a job. But an avocation, a sideline, a hobby, is necessary if we are to keep our spirits and souls alive.

The man who has no thought in his mind beyond the daily routine of eating, sleeping and working becomes in time a very dull man in deed, and is likely to lose touch with friends and family because he has no vital interest outside of his merely physical and personal life.

And it becomes increasingly hard to cultivate a hobby with years. Unless the ambition is early implanted and carefully cultivated it is not apt to become an integral part of the individual.

The bureau of the census now estimates the population of the United States at 125,693,000 persons.

When Hair Turns Gray

Many authorities believe that hair turns gray because the hair follicles where it is born no longer furnish the oxidizing agent that oxidizes the pigment. Others think that the color is still there, but is hidden by air bubbles which form to take place of the shrinking hair cells. These give the hair its gray appearance, and when enough of them have formed they make it white.

Although opinion on what turns hair gray is divided and nobody has been able to satisfactorily explain how hair can suddenly turn white over night from terror or grief we know that the first gray hairs to appear in a scalp are bigger and stronger than the rest. We also know that in extreme old age the hair grows thinner and finally becomes fine and short like those on the scalp of a baby.

What the Blue Eagle means to you and how you can get it

The President's Reemployment Program is advancing to complete success. No such sweeping demonstration of the unity of a whole people against a national danger has ever been made. • In this vast surge of patriotism it is necessary to keep our common purpose always clear. When 125,000,000 people attempt to act as one man there are sure to be some misunderstandings. It is time to restate as clearly as possible the aim of the whole endeavor and the duty of each individual. • That is the purpose of this message—to state officially, briefly and clearly the simple rules for common guidance. • It is an evidence of the self-sacrificing service of the whole country that this newspaper has donated this space. In that spirit the whole country is acting. • This plan depends wholly on united action. That unity is almost complete. In the next few days let us close up every gap in the ranks and nail the flag of the Blue Eagle on the door of every man who works another man.

Hugh S. Johnson

OFFICIAL EXPLANATION OF THE PRESIDENT'S REEMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT

(Sometimes misnamed "The Blanket Code")

This Agreement binds you to put its terms into effect from the time you sign the Certificate of Compliance until December 31, 1933, but when the President has approved a Code for your trade or industry, that Code takes the place of this Agreement.

You agree:

Child Labor

(1) After August 31, 1933, not to employ any person under 16 years of age, except that persons between 14 and 16 may be employed (but not in manufacturing or mechanical industries) for not to exceed 3 hours per day and these hours between 7 A. M. and 6 P. M. in such work as will not interfere with hours of day school.

This means that after August 31, 1933, you agree not to employ any children under 14 years old in any kind of business. You may employ children between 14 and 16 years old, but only for three hours a day and those hours must be between 7 in the morning and 7 at night, and arranged so as not to interfere with school. You agree not to employ any children under 16 years old in a manufacturing or mechanical industry at any time.

Maximum Hours

(2) Not to work any accounting, clerical, banking, office, service, or sales employees (except outside salesmen) in any store, office, department, establishment, or public utility, or on any automobile or bus, or as a passenger, or as a driver, or as a freight carrier, or in any other place or manner, for more than 40 hours in any 1 week and not to reduce the hours of any store or service operation to below 32 hours in any 1 week, unless such hours were less than 32 hours in the week before July 1, 1933, and in the interim not to reduce such hours at all.

This means that you agree not to work any of the kinds of employees listed in this paragraph (except outside salesmen) more than 40 hours a week. This paragraph covers all employees except factory workers, mechanical workers and artisans. However, no limit on hours and no minimum wage applies to purely agricultural labor, domestic servants, or persons working for you solely on a commission basis; but, if you have persons working for you who are guaranteed a base pay in addition to their commission, then their base pay plus commissions must equal the minimum wage.

This Agreement sets no maximum on the number of hours you may keep your business open. You agree not to keep your wholesale, retail, or service establishment open less than 32 hours a week unless it was open less than 32 hours a week before July 1, 1933. Even then you agree to keep it open as long as you used to keep it open before July 1. Of course, if you have always kept your store open shorter hours in the Summer months, you should pay to do so this summer, but you should pay the same amount each week that they will get when you keep your store open full time.

The stores with more than two employees which remain open the longest are contributing the most to carrying out the purpose of the Agreement. The stores with two or less employees which can be open only the minimum number of hours required, are doing the most to fulfill their part.

(3) Not to employ any factory or mechanical worker or artisan more than a maximum week of 35 hours and not to reduce the hours of any factory or mechanical worker or artisan to less than 32 hours in any 1 week, unless such hours were less than 32 hours in the week before July 1, 1933, and in the interim not to reduce such hours at all.

This means that if you are employing factory or mechanical workers or artisans, you agree not to work them more than 35 hours a week and not more than 8 hours in any one day.

When you have more than the usual amount of work to do and can't get additional workers you may employ this class of employee up to 40 hours a week in any 6 weeks, but even in this case you must not work them more than 8 hours a day.

(4) The maximum hours fixed in the foregoing paragraphs (2) and (3) shall not apply to employees in establishments employing not more than two persons in towns of less than 2,500 population which hours are not part of a larger trade area; nor to registered laborers or other professional persons employed in their profession; nor to employees in a managerial or executive capacity, who now receive more than $35 per week; nor to employees in a commercial, manufacturing, or repair work; nor to very special cases where restrictions of hours of highly skilled workers on continuous processes would unavoidably reduce production but, in any such special case, at least three such workers shall be paid for hours worked in excess of the minimum. Population for the purpose of this agreement shall be determined by reference to the 1930 Federal census.

This means that there are certain employees whom you may work longer hours than are allowed by paragraphs (2) and (3) P. R. A.

If your business is in a small town (population less than 2,500 by the 1930 census) and you do not employ more than two persons, the limit on hours does not apply to these employees. If your town is really a part of a larger business community, the limit on hours does apply to these employees.

The limit on hours does not apply to your employees who are wholly or primarily managers or executives, as long as they receive $35 a week. Professional persons, like doctors, lawyers, registered pharmacists and nurses, may be employed without any limit on hours.

Where employees are doing emergency jobs of maintenance or repair work, they may be kept on the job for longer hours, but you agree to pay them at least time and one-third for hours worked over the limits set in paragraphs (2) and (3) P. R. A.

There are a few very special cases where highly skilled workers must be allowed to work more than the limit of hours in order to keep up output on continuous processes, but, here again, you agree to pay them at least time and one-third for the hours they work over the limits set in paragraphs (2) and (3) P. R. A.

Minimum Wages

(5) Not to pay any of the classes of employees mentioned in paragraph (3) less than $15 per week in any city of over 500,000 population, or in the immediate trade area of such city; nor less than $14.50 per week in any city of between 250,000 and 500,000 population, or in the immediate trade area of such city; nor less than $14 per week in any city of between 2,500 and 250,000 population, or in the immediate trade area of such city and in towns of less than 2,500 population to increase all wages by not less than 20 per cent, provided that this shall not require wages in excess of $12 per week.

This sets out the schedule of minimum wages which you agree to pay all employees, except factory or mechanical workers or artisans. The wages are set out in terms of dollars per week, but if your employees are paid by the hour, you may use the following schedule:

Place of Business:	Minimum Wage:
(Population by 1930 Census)
In cities of 500,000 or over.....	37½ cents per hour
In cities of between 250,000 and 500,000.....	36½ cents per hour
In cities of between 2,500 and 250,000.....	35 cents per hour

If your business is in a town of less than 2,500 population, you agree to raise wages at least 20%. If raising all wages 20% causes you to pay over $12 per week, then you need only pay the $12 per week.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to whether your business is in the "immediate trade area" of a city, you should ask your local Chamber of Commerce or other similar organization for a decision on the matter. The general rule is that the "immediate trade area" is the area in which there is direct retail competition.

(6) Not to pay any employee of the classes mentioned in paragraph (3) less than 40 cents per hour unless the hourly rate for the same class of work on July 15, 1933, was less than 40 cents per hour, in which latter case not to pay less than the hourly rate on July 15, 1933, and in no event less than 30 cents per hour. It is agreed that this paragraph establishes a guaranteed minimum rate of pay regardless of whether the employee is compensated on the basis of a time rate or on a piece-work performance.

This fixes the minimum wage which you agree to pay factory and mechanical workers and artisans. The following schedule may help you to find out the proper rate:

If the rate for the same kind of work in the same community on July 15, 1933, was:	The minimum rate which you agree to pay:
More than 40c an hour.....	40c an hour
30c to 40c an hour.....	The July 15, 1933, hourly rate
Less than 30c an hour.....	30c an hour

Instead of paying by the hour, you may pay by the week at a rate which gives the same weekly earnings for a week of 35 hours. For example, instead of 40c an hour, you may pay $14 per week.

If you had a contract on or before August 1, 1933, with a learner, apprentice, you do not have to pay him the minimum wage, but no one should be classed as a learner or an apprentice who has ever been employed as a regular worker in your industry.

(7) Not to reduce the compensation for employment now in excess of the minimum wages hereby agreed to (notwithstanding that the hours worked in such employment may be hereby reduced) and to increase the pay for such employment by an equitable readjustment of all pay schedules.

Two official interpretations—No. 1 and No. 20—have been issued explaining this paragraph. You can get copies of these from your local Chamber of Commerce or nearest N. R. A. representative.

Anti-Subterfuge

(8) Not to use any subterfuge to frustrate the spirit and intent of this Agreement, which is to increase employment by a universal covenant, to remove obstructions to commerce, and to shorten hours and raise wages for the shorter week to a living basis.

This is the heart of the whole Agreement. The President's Plan is to cure this depression by increasing purchasing power. You can help him put this plan over by voluntarily signing this Agreement to shorten hours and raise wages. There is no force to compel you to sign this Agreement. It is not law. It is a personal agreement between you and the President. The President expects you to do everything in your power to carry out the spirit of the Agreement after you sign it. This means wholehearted cooperation by really earning the Blue Eagle, not by just getting it and then not doing your part.

It would be a "subterfuge to frustrate the spirit and intent of this Agreement" to sign it and then not all of your employees on a straight commission basis—or any other trick to avoid doing what you promise to do.

WE DO OUR PART

HOW TO EARN THE BLUE EAGLE

1. Sign the President's Reemployment Agreement (P. R. A.).
2. Shorten Hours of factory workers to 35 hours per week, and of all other employees to 40 hours per week. (See paragraphs 2, 3 and 4, P. R. A.)
3. Raise Wages. (See paragraphs 5, 6 and 7, P. R. A.)
4. Don't Employ Child Labor. (See paragraph 1, P. R. A.)
5. Cooperate with the President. To do this:
 - (a) Live Up to the Agreement. (See paragraph 8, P. R. A.)
 - (b) Don't Proffer. (See paragraph 9, P. R. A.)
 - (c) Deal Only with Others "Under the Blue Eagle." (See paragraphs 10 and 12, P. R. A.)
 - (d) Get a Code in by September 1st. (See paragraphs 11 and 13, P. R. A.)

HOW TO GET THE BLUE EAGLE

1. Sign the President's Reemployment Agreement.
2. Mail the Signed Agreement to your District Office of the Department of Commerce.
3. Put the Agreement into Effect (as outlined above in "How to Earn the Blue Eagle").
4. Sign a Certificate of Compliance. This is a slip distributed with the Agreement. It says: "I/We certify that we have adjusted the hours of labor and the wages of our employees to accord with the President's Reemployment Agreement, which we have signed."
5. Deliver the Certificate of Compliance to Your Post Office. The Postmaster will give you your Blue Eagle.

EXCEPTIONAL CASES

1. Where a Code Has Been Submitted. (See paragraph 13, President's Reemployment Agreement.) If your whole Trade or Industry is unable to live up to the President's Agreement, you should get together at once, with other employers in your Trade or Industry and in a group submit a Code of Fair Competition to N. R. A. in Washington.

Since it takes some time after a Code has been submitted for it to be finally approved, your group may petition N. R. A. to substitute the wages and hours provisions of your Code for the wages and hours provisions of the President's Reemployment Agreement.

If N. R. A. finds that the Code provisions are within the spirit of the President's Reemployment Agreement, it will consent to such substitutions. If N. R. A. does not consent there will be an official notice in all the papers. You may then put the substituted provisions into effect in place of the indicated paragraphs of the President's Reemployment Agreement. In this case you should add to your Certificate of Compliance the following clause: "In the same manner as announced by the President's Reemployment Agreement by complying with the substituted provisions of the Code submitted by the Trade/Industry."

If the substitution is consented to after you have already put the President's Reemployment Agreement into full effect, and after you have already gotten your Blue Eagle, you may still put the substituted provisions into effect without signing another Certificate of Compliance.

2. Where a Code Has Been Approved. If a Code of Fair Competition for your Trade or Industry has already been finally approved by the President, you need not sign the President's Reemployment Agreement in order to get the Blue Eagle. The same is true if you are substituted in a Code which has been put into effect temporarily by agreement between the President and representatives of your Trade or Industry; but in either of these cases, you must sign a Certificate of Compliance, adding to it the following statement: "We have complied with the operative provisions of the Code for the Trade/Industry."

3. Cases of Individual Hardship. (Paragraph 14, President's Reemployment Agreement.) If there are some peculiar reasons why a particular provision of the President's Agreement will cause you, individually, a great and unavoidable hardship, you may still get the Blue Eagle by taking the following steps:
 - (a) Sign the Agreement and mail it to your District Office of the Department of Commerce.

(b) Prepare a petition to N. R. A. setting out the reasons why you cannot comply with certain provisions, and requesting that an exception be made in your case.

(c) Have this petition approved by your Trade Association. If there is no Trade Association for your business, have your petition approved by your local Chamber of Commerce or other representative organization designated by N. R. A.

(d) If the Trade Association, or other organization, approves your petition, send it to N. R. A. in Washington with this approval.

(e) Comply with all the provisions of the Agreement except the one you are petitioning to have excepted.

(f) Sign the Certificate of Compliance, adding to it the following clause: "Except for those interim provisions regarding wages and hours which have been approved by the Trade Association." Deliver this Certificate of Compliance to your Post Office. You will receive a Blue Eagle, but before displaying it you must put the words "Provisional" on it. If your petition is finally approved by N. R. A. you may take the words down. If your petition is not approved by N. R. A. you must comply with the Agreement in full.

4. Union Contracts. If you have a contract with a labor organization calling for longer hours than the President's Agreement allows, and this contract was made in good faith by collective bargaining and cannot be changed by you alone, try to get the labor organization to agree to a reduction to the maximum hours allowed by the President's Agreement. If the labor organization will not agree, you may apply to N. R. A. for permission to work your employees as many hours a week as the contract calls for, based on N. R. A. a request for this permission with a certified copy of the labor contract, and any statement of facts you desire. This application will be handled by N. R. A. in the same manner as an application for relief in cases of individual hardship, filed under paragraph (14) P. R. A., but it will not be necessary to obtain the approval of a trade association or other organization. If N. R. A. approves your application, or is able to bring about any modification of the contract, you will then be granted permission to work employees in accordance with the contract as originally written or modified, and can then sign the Certificate of Compliance, adding to it the following: "Except as required to comply with the terms of the Agreement and the effect between the undersigned and the (Name of Labor Organization)."

Anti-Profitting

(9) Not to increase the price of any merchandise sold after the date based on the price on July 1, 1933, by more than is made necessary by actual increase in production, replacement, or increase costs of transportation, or by taxes or other costs resulting from action taken pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act, since July 1, 1933, and, in selling such price increases, to give full weight to possible increases in sales volume and to refrain from taking profiteering advantage of the emergency public.

The object of this paragraph is to prevent profiteering or speculation, so that prices will not rise faster than purchasing power, and thereby the President's plan. The danger to be avoided was pointed out by the President on June 16, 1933, in the statement which he made on signing the Recovery Act. He said, then:

"If we now inflate prices as fast and as far as we increase wages, the whole project will be set at naught. We cannot hope for the full effect of this plan unless, in these first critical months, and even at the expense of full initial profits, we defer price increases as long as possible. If we can then start a steady, upward spiral of business activity our industries will have little doubt of black-out operations in the last quarter of this year. The pent-up demand of this people is very great, and if we can release it on as broad a front, we need not fear a lasting depression. There is greater danger of too much feverish action."

If you were selling your merchandise on July 1, 1933, below cost, you may take your cost price on that date as the basis for determining the allowable increase under this paragraph.

Cooperation

(10) To support and patronize establishments which also have signed this Agreement and are listed as members of N. R. A. (National Recovery Administration).

The success of the President's Reemployment Agreement Program depends upon public support going to those who raise wages and shorten hours in accordance with this Agreement, in order to repay them for the extra expense which they have incurred in doing their part.

Codes

(11) To cooperate to the fullest extent in having a Code of Fair Competition submitted by his industry at the earliest possible date, and in any event before September 1, 1933.

This Agreement is a temporary measure to tide over the time from now until all employers and employees can cooperate under Codes of Fair Competition under the National Industrial Recovery Act. In this paragraph, to do all you can to have a Code submitted for your trade or industry before September 1, 1933.

Appropriate Adjustments

(12) Where, before June 16, 1933, the undersigned had contracted to purchase goods at a fixed price for delivery during the period of this Agreement, the undersigned will make an appropriate adjustment of such fixed price to meet any increase in cost caused by the seller having signed this President's Reemployment Agreement or having become bound by any Code of Fair Competition approved by the President.

This Agreement will, usually, increase the costs of those who sign it. The purpose of this paragraph is to pass any such increased costs along from one signer to another, and so on to the consumer.

If you have a contract made before June 16, 1933, to buy goods at a fixed price, you agree to make an arrangement with your seller so that you pay him for the extra cost to him caused by his having signed this Agreement, or having come under a Code approved by the President.

In some cases the final buyer is the Government, which, under existing law, is generally not allowed to pay more than the contract price. The President has announced that he will recommend to Congress that appropriations be made to allow the Government contractor to pay by paying Government contractors their increased costs. The President has also appealed to the States and cities to take action permitting them to do likewise.

You should have no fear that, because your buyer has not signed, you will be left with the increased cost on you alone. The President expects every employer to sign this Agreement.

Substitution

(13) This Agreement shall cease upon approval by the President of a Code to which the undersigned is subject; or, if the N. R. A. so directs, upon submission of a Code to which the undersigned is subject and substitution of any of its provisions for any of the terms of this Agreement.

As pointed out in the explanation of paragraph (11) P. R. A. above, the President plans to have all business govern itself under Codes, and therefore Codes should be promptly submitted. If N. R. A. finds that the wages and hours provisions of a Code which has been submitted are within the spirit of the Agreement, N. R. A. will authorize your industry to operate under those provisions rather than under the wages and hours provisions of this Agreement.

Exceptions

(14) It is agreed that any person who wishes to be a part of the President's Reemployment Drive by signing this Agreement, but who asserts that some particular provision, because of peculiar circumstances, will cause great and unavoidable hardship, may obtain the benefits hereby by signing this Agreement and putting it into effect and then, in a petition approved by the Trade Association of his industry, or other representative organization designated by N. R. A., may apply for a stay of such provision pending a summary investigation by N. R. A. If he agrees to such application to abide by the decision of such investigation. This Agreement is entered into pursuant to section 4 (a) of the National Industrial Recovery Act and subject to all the terms and conditions required by sections 7 (a) and 10 (b) of that act.

If you really want to do your part in the President's Reemployment Program, sign this Agreement. If some particular part of this Agreement causes you, as an individual employer, great and unavoidable hardship, you may be relieved by taking the steps outlined under the heading "Cases of Individual Hardship."

Save this sheet as your official source of information. If there are any problems in your mind which are not cleared up by this explanation, get in touch with the official N. R. A. representative in your community.

Appeals to Dilatory Depositors Who Will Not Aid Bank Opening

An open letter:

As a depositor of the National Ulster County Bank I would like to make a plea to the dilatory depositors who are retarding the opening of the bank.

I personally feel that all possible assistance should be given the great mass of willing workers who have so valiantly come forward with time and money to aid the very tedious task of reopening the bank.

Some time ago my husband and I made a trip of one hundred miles to attend the mass meeting. Although we had to borrow money to make the trip we felt that at least our moral support should be given.

At that time we met many of our friends who have small amounts in the bank and they invariably said they did not intend to bother attending meetings or signing any plans of reopening.

Now no doubt those are the ones who are delaying the plans now being carried out, and no doubt they have incomes, but to them I make this appeal.

On March 4 we were left practically destitute, after five years of idleness. We have no source of income whatsoever. We have borrowed all we can and since April 1 my husband has been in need of an operation which this delay may make far more serious, and which can only be had when our meagre fund is again at our disposal.

Will those careless or thoughtless ones not come forward now and aid us who are on the verge of applying for charity?

With many heartfelt thanks to the staff of the National Ulster County Bank from the conservator all down the line and a sincere wish to see all the old familiar faces still there when the bank reopens.

AN ANXIOUS WATCHER

Original "Blue Streak,"

or Sharp-Shinned Hawk
The origin of the expression "going a blue streak" is hazy but for a practical demonstration of what the term implies, the sharp-shinned hawk, or little blue darter, can give it. When he spies a broiler, quail or other carelessly feathered luncheon wandering far from shelter, this real chicken hawk can give a good imitation of Capt. Malcolm Campbell's Blue Bird—but with a square meal in view, not for the purpose of setting world speed records.

One of the speediest hawks, the sharp-shinned, is also regarded by authorities as one of the most destructive to poultry, game and other beneficial birds. Although measuring but 10 to 12 inches in length, with a wing spread of about 22 inches, this little blue darter, says a publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, "is very partial to chickens and often almost exterminates early broods which are allowed to run at large. No birds, from the size of doves, robins and flickers to the smallest warblers and titmice, are safe from its attacks."

The More Game Birds foundation, an organization of nationally known business men and sportsmen, puts the sharp-shinned hawk as the leading wild life gangster. In its booklet, "More Game Birds by Controlling Their Natural Enemies," the foundation declares: "The sharp-shinned hawk is second in its destructive habits only to the Cooper's hawk and goshawk as a game bird enemy and should be controlled at all times."

Know-Nothing Party Was Result of Immigration

The Irish famine and the revolutionary movements in Europe in 1849 and 1850 were the causes of a great migration to the United States. The Know-Nothing party, which arose shortly thereafter, was in large part a reaction or protest against this increase in the foreign-born population.

It was a secret political party or society, variously known as "The Sons of '76," "The Supreme Order of the Star-Spangled Banner" and the American party. Because of the secrecy and the answer which members are said to have made to all inquiries concerning its activities—"I don't know"—it came to be known popularly as the Know-Nothing party.

It advocated a policy of "American for the Americans" and favored a 32-year residence qualification for citizenship. From 1854 to 1857, partly due to the dissolution of the Whig party, it carried elections in seven or eight states and figured in the national campaign of 1856. By 1860, however, it had entirely disappeared.

Black Widow Spider Dangerous

There are those who would extol the virtues of spiders—those patient, ingenious and artistic spinners—and emphasize their value as destroyers of flies and other insect pests. The average text on spider lore has little to do with the stories of poisoning by spiders and with those who have been bitten. But the defense of the spider is fraught with dangers, and when naturalists in their enthusiasm go so far as to suggest giving no notice a culprit as the Black Widow the freedom of the house, it is time to review the actual facts of the situation and to note the true extent of this danger.—Hygeia Health Magazine.

RIVERSIDE TIRES are

Blow-Proof!

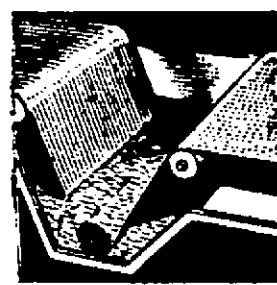

RIVERSIDE TIRES have LATEX WELDED CORDS (100% PURE LIQUID RUBBER)

which prevent Cord Separation . . the cause of blowouts

Cord Separation
This shows how cords inside tires other than Riverside are separated by heat. Cord separation causes internal blisters, weakens the tire. A blowout is the result! Riverside is Blow-Proof because of Latex dipping!

Do you know this? An average size tire goes round 395 times every minute at only 35 miles an hour! Think what happens when you drive at this speed—or faster! Friction develops scorching heat inside your tires! In many tires other than Riversides this heat separates cords and forms internal blisters! When you hit a rock or a bump . . . BANG! A Blowout! Riversides' Selected Cords—the heart of the tire—are made from extra strong, long staple, premium cotton. Every cord in every ply is dipped in LATEX—100% pure, liquid, virgin rubber. This welds the cords into a super strong unit! It gives Riversides the strongest tire carcass made!

Latex Dipping
By an extra process, every cord in every ply in all Riverside tires is dipped in Latex. This welds the cords into a super strong unit that defies cord separation and blowouts!

Why We Save You Money

Of course Riversides are made in one of America's largest and best tire factories. BUT—they come direct to us—minus the manufacturer's selling and general overhead expense. That's a saving. The second saving comes from Wards low cost method of distribution. These two reasons explain why we sell high quality tires for less—why Riversides are better in quality, mileage, and safety than any other tire at the same price.

Wards Unlimited Guarantee

For your protection every single Riverside tire is guaranteed by Wards to give service that is satisfactory to you. No time limit! No mileage limit! A tire has to be extra good—has to be extra safe to be backed by the strongest tire guarantee ever written!

*RIVERSIDE TIRES

HARVEST FESTIVAL AT WEST SHOKAN TONIGHT

West Shokan, Aug. 22.—Every thing is in readiness for the annual West Shokan Baptist Church fair and supper tonight. Quilts of intricate design and showing excellent craftsmanship, together with a pleasing variety of fancy articles produced through the long winter months by the Ladies Aid members will be on sale. There will in addition be the usual side line attractions such as the always popular homemade candy and ice cream.

Supper, sumptuous to the rank of the products of farm and forest, and everything prepared to the taste of deliciousness, will be ready for serving from 6 o'clock until all comers have had their turn. During the evening a specially prepared variety musical program will be presented. The date is on rain or shine, as weather conditions have never in the past interfered appreciably with the crowd coming from all quarters who plan in advance to share in West Shokan's harvest festival.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Clintondale, Aug. 23.—The commencement exercises of the Vacation Bible School, held in the Friends Church in Clintondale under the auspices of the local Methodist and Friends Churches, were held on Friday evening. During the evening the work, which the children did during the past two weeks, consisting of lamp shades, flower pot covers, pot holders, shoe bags, aprons, towels and other embroidery articles, were exhibited and sold for moderate prices, thus realizing a goodly sum from the work. The entertainment of the evening consisted of recitations, songs and a playlet which were greatly enjoyed by all present. Mrs. John Schoonmaker was in charge of the handiwork for girls, while the Rev. Robert Guice instructed the boys.

RECENT STORMS RECALL WASHOUT IN AUGUST, 1929

West Shokan, Aug. 23.—Monday night's and Tuesday's downpour brings vividly to memory the washout of August 23, 1929, which followed a period of murky weather similar to that of the past two weeks. That freshet did everything but completely wash the Lackawack and Esopus valleys into the Hudson river. The crest of the 1929 cloudburst just nicely broke over the Watson Hollow watershed and tore away several bridges and sections of the roadway adjacent to Bushkill stream, also damaged the north abutment of the Bushkill iron bridge. However, the sometimes turbulent Maltby Hollow feeder stream did not rise unduly and the Esopus valley north of the reservoir section missed the flood completely insofar as high water was concerned.

SOUTH RONDOUT

South Rondout, Aug. 23.—Gertrude and Alice Benz of Connelly Heights are spending two weeks with their aunt, Mrs. Robert Jeker, of Amityville, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Ketchum and daughter, Lillian, of Farmingdale, L. I., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Benz Sunday.

Mrs. John Hauer called on the Misses Recktenwald of Kingston one day recently.

The Misses Florence MacDonald, Dorothy and Marian Hicks of Kingston and Ida Mauer left on a trip to the Century of Progress Fair in Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scherer, Mrs. Patrick Laicher and the Misses Josephine and Grace Herms of Kingston motored to Graymoor, Garrison, N. Y., where they had the pleasure of meeting the Rev. Father Madden, who was ordained there a few months ago.

Joseph Scherer and Harry DuBois of Kingston, Electrofax salesmen, attended a business meeting in Poughkeepsie Monday evening.

Private Louis Jones of West Point, who recently returned from camp in Arden, N. Y., spent the week-end at the Scherer home.

GAS HUGGERS—Suck 'em!

OFFICE CAT

No picnic is complete until the discovery is made that somebody forgot to bring the salt.

Woman—Do come and spend the evening with us. My daughter, Dorothy, will sing and play, and at 9 o'clock we will have tea.

Visiting Gentleman—I will be there at 9 o'clock sharp.

CLOUDBURSTS—Everytime we ask anybody to cash a check we wonder if we really do look like a crook. If mistakes were crimes most of us would be in jail. A man never fully realizes how golden silence is until he tries to buy it. Nothing else reconciles you to hateful people like the discovery that you can use them. The only way you can convince a job hunter that the country is safe is give him a job. No woman ever had a handbag big enough to hold all she wanted to put into it. A homely girl begins to enjoy life about the time a pretty girl is tired of it. When man rides the earth of every menace, there will still be man. The good parties are the ones you miss. Order may be heaven's first law, but it is earth's last realization. Once a month every man complains of his family's extravagance. Every day in every way life becomes more complicated. Truth is stranger than fiction—and a lot of people seem averse to associating with strangers. There is fear that when prosperity returns in full force it will bring back the high-powered salesman. Some day it will be up to the voters of the country to choose between politicians and professors.

Visitor—What beautiful furniture you have—I just love it.
Woman—So does the man who sold it to us. He comes and sees it every Monday.

Even the best of us feel a great temptation to do entirely too much of our work tomorrow instead of today.

We are unable to remember of a girl of 20 ever marrying a man of 60 who was real poor.

Patron—Never mind my order. I can't eat where there's a smell of paint.

Waiter—If you'll wait a minute, sir, those two young ladies will be going.

The reason mother's stockings always have runs in them is because sister doesn't give them to her until they get that way.

Elmer—Have you really the heart to deny me one little kiss—when I beg most sincerely?

Eloise—As a matter of principle, I never give anything to beggars.

Those who borrow Reconstruction Finance Corporation money are warned that they must pay it back. That's what you get for being born on this side of the Atlantic.

A Foolish One
The tulips never do get kissed. But notice, if you please. That though the lemon has no waist, 'Twill often get a squeeze.

One of the saddest things about life is that marriage so often proves a permanent cure for love sickness.

An efficiency expert was sent out in the Colorado mountains to advise the miners. One old miner, driving the expert through the snow and cold, spread a buffalo laprobe over the knees of both of them as they sat side by side.

Expert—You ought to turn the hair on the inside. Don't you know it is a great deal warmer to have the hair next to your body?

The old miner obeyed, and then sat there chuckling.
Expert—What are you laughing about? Are you laughing at me?
Miner (finding it difficult to restrain himself)—I was just thinking about the buffalo. What a fool he was all his life long not to know a simple thing like that.

A writer in the New Republic says the World Economic Conference "represented the swan song of internationalism". Sounded from here more like crows than swans.

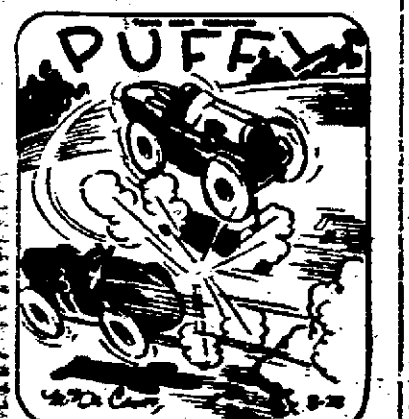

Maybe it's jealousy that makes a bee buzz into a buzz-wagon and sting the driver.

Don't judge a man by the clothes he wears. They may not be paid for.

We seem to have substituted the deal for the doll.

The dangerous part of falling in love with a pair of pretty legs is that you have to marry the whole girl.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Big George Bancroft is bringing back that "smiling villain of the screen" who two or three years ago was one of Hollywood's leading box-office personalities.

George dropped out of pictures a year ago, just after he finished "Lady and Gent" for Paramount where he had been under contract.

"Lady and Gent" was a hit, with a story that was considered for the academy award last year, but George's agent and the studio couldn't come to terms for a renewal.

Taking It Easy
"I thought it was time for a rest, anyway," says Bancroft, reminiscing.

"We sort of thought we'd get away, Mrs. Bancroft, and I for a trip somewhere. But there was baby to think of—she's still in school—and we didn't want to leave her. Baby matters a great deal more than any trip. When she's grown up, we may go somewhere, but right now—well, I've just been staying home, resting here, and tending to matters as they came up."

"Baby" is the Bancroft daughter, Georgette, a wholesome-looking girl in her early teens. George is openly sentimental, and she's still "baby" to him.

"I haven't been inactive really," he explains. "There have been several offers of parts, but for one reason and another I didn't take them. There was one I almost signed for, but the story didn't suit me. I believe in good material for actors. It's the story that counts, story and character."

He Turns Out O. K.
The story that brought him back is "Blood Money," in which he plays the role of a bail bondsman whose unscrupulous methods lead to retribution and final awakening of conscience.

Although Bancroft's screen characters have been varied, they usually have toughness tempered with human feeling which makes for audience sympathy, and this is the end at least—will be no exception.

On the screen since 1921, Bancroft made his way to the top by presenting "believable" heavies, in contrast to the then prevailing type, which was very tough, wholly black-hearted, without a single redeeming trait. With "Underworld," directed by Josef von Sternberg, he rose to stardom. Now he has joined with Darryl Zanuck and his Twentieth Century Company.

Bancroft is at a "good picture weight" now, an even 200 pounds. Perhaps it will encourage little boys who want to be big to know that George once was so slight he thought of being a jockey.

Kingston: "Baby Face". Barbara Stanwyck is the fascinating role of a tough young lady who uses men to further her own interests and who treats love as a joke, sweeps through several reels of exciting melodrama and ends up, of course, by finding that true love blossoms in the place one would least expect to find it.

Miss Stanwyck makes a stormy heroine in this latest picture of hers, and George Brent is a bit submerged in the other leading role because of the fire of the star's acting.

At that, it is interesting entertainment, without any dull spots.

Orpheum: "The Penguin Pool Murder". One of the best of the murder mysteries is this somewhat ancient thriller with Edna May Oliver, Mac Clarke, Bob Armstrong and James Gleason. A capable cast coupled with some intelligent direction and numerous laughs makes the first attraction on the bill worth seeing.

"Goona-Goona" isn't a baby story as one might judge from the title, but to the contrary the opposite is true. On the island of Bali, where are sorts of weird rituals and beliefs are dominant part of native life, this talkie attempts to catch the tribal dances and the spirit behind them.

Broadway: "Hold Me Tight". Young love is the topic of this talkie, young love that is poor but honest, and the fight it must make against a plotting world where fairness doesn't count. It's the story of a young man who loses his job in a department store shortly after marrying, and the struggles that follow to keep going form the plot structure of the story. Sally Ellor and James Dunn prove to be one of the best of the movie teams, although a little lost in a mediocre picture. Frank McHugh lends some excellent comedy relief.

Tomorrow

Kingston: "Strictly Personal". The story of a couple of gentlemen who decide to commercialize on romance is the theme of this talkie, and mystery is also thrown into the play for added effectiveness. Dorothy Jordan, Marjorie Rambeau and Eddie Quillan sparkle as best they can in the featured roles, and the play itself turns out to be moderately entertaining melodrama.

Orpheum: Same.
Broadway: "Robber's Roost" and "Daring Daughters". The movie version of Zane Grey's novel heads the double feature attraction at the Broadway. It is one of the most exciting and intelligently done talkies of the west, and for thrills, excitement, and rapidity of action, this show leaves little to be desired.

A fine cast offers such capable performers as George O'Brien and Maureen O'Sullivan. "Daring Daughters" is one of those sophisticated tales of modern youth, with Marian Marsh, Joan Marsh, Kenneth Thomson and Bert Roach getting into a lot of difficulty at the start of the show, and extricating themselves at the finish.

Telepathy
Telepathy is a branch of the Tibetan secret lore.

Fragrant Gladiolus
Gladiolus flowers in gardens are generally considered to be without scent, but some of the wild species of Africa are strongly fragrant.

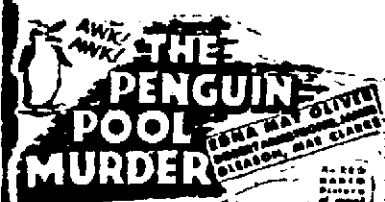

As the Hindus See It
To the Hindus, a system of philosophy is an insight, a "darsana," a vision of truth and not a matter of logical argument and proof.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 23 (AP)—Financial markets had a touch of inflationary fever today, but it didn't last long and trading soon dropped back to its normal sub-normal condition. The spread was coincident with a rally of foreign exchanges against the dollar. Sterling was up about 4 cents at one time and European gold currencies exhibited strength. Greeks and others were firm, but not buoyant. Silver futures were firm. Bonds were quiet and moderately valued.

Shares of U. S. Steel and New York Central were among the most active in the early hour. The former retained about a point of its gains and the latter held 2. Case, a leading stock, for a 3-point advance, and Deere was up about 1. Other issues that improved 1 or more included Johns-Manville, Westinghouse, Industrial Union, Standard Brands, National Steel and Bethlehem Steel.

Sheppard Rallies Texans In Drive To Beat Repeal As August 26 Test Nears

Dry "Napoleon"

SEN. MORRIS SHEPPARD

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Declaring his confidence that Texas will block repeal, Senator Morris Sheppard, co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment and "Little Napoleon" of the dry cause, has launched a whirlwind campaign to keep his state from joining the anti-prohibition parade.

"If Texas will vote dry, other states will follow," Sheppard said, addressing an open-air gathering. "We need only 13 states to keep America from undoing the work we did back in 1919."

Campaign With Sound Track.

Traveling in his own sound truck, the little gray-haired Texan opened his fight against repeal at Hughes Springs, a village in the hilly hills of east Texas.

All through the August heat, the senator has been speaking two or three times daily, following a schedule calling for speeches in each of the state's congressional districts before the election August 26.

Toeing aside his coat and mopping his perspiring brow, Sheppard displays the determination of a crusader against the foe he believed he had conquered 14 years ago.

Draws Large Crowds.

His audiences, including a large rural representation that comes from a 50-mile radius, pack courthouse squares and city parks.

"The millionaires and brewers are spending millions in this fight," Sheppard charges in a typical address, replying to arguments of repealists that return of liquor would have economic advantages.

"The millionaires want the drinking public to pay their taxes, while the brewers want to amass fortunes at your expense."

"They offer you beer when your wives and children need bread."

Concluding his address, Sheppard stepped from the platform to shake hands with hundreds who crowded about him. His 32 years of service in Congress have given him a wide acquaintance throughout the state.

Senator Morris Sheppard, co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment and sometimes called "Little Napoleon" of the dry cause, is campaigning to keep Texas in the dry column as the August 26 election on repeal approaches.

Protests of labor councils of Houston and other cities against Senator Sheppard's campaign, which conflicts with administration views and the Democratic platform, failed to faze him.

"I shall go ahead with my campaign as I consider it my duty to do so," he said.

The WORLD of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

Just a hundred years ago the first Canadian vessel crossed the Atlantic under steam. It was the Royal William, a combination sailing ship and steamer.

Today in commemoration of the event Canada has issued a special stamp of 5-cent denomination. The central design is a drawing of the Royal William as it plowed into the Atlantic. The color is blue.

She was not the first steam vessel to cross the Atlantic, two others having accomplished the feat, in 1818 and 1827. Nor was she built with that idea in mind, having been intended primarily to run between Quebec and Halifax.

One of her owners was Samuel Cunard, and the trip across the Atlantic was made with the intention of selling her in Europe. That first trip required 220 days and 230 tons of coal. Ultimately sold for approximately $45,000, she later served in the Portuguese navy as a transport and in the Spanish navy as a warship, being condemned in 1847.

United States Issues:

Great Britain, the first country to print an official government stamp in 1840, has had 23 issues since that time in which there were basic changes in design.

On the other hand, the United States government, which turned out its first official stamp in 1847, has had 61 basic issues, both regular and commemorative, to date.

It is interesting to note that early British stamps were only one and two pence, while the first U. S. issue was for 5 and 10 cents, lower denominations not appearing until the 1851 issue.

What's Happening:

It'll cost collectors quite a bit to get a complete set of those recent Italian airmails issued in connection with the Balbo flight. The entire issue contains 46 different stamps—each stamp really being three stamps in one—with a total face value of $106.72. That figure doesn't take into consideration the rating cataloguers will place on the issue, either.

Special consideration is to be given collectors under a new order to postal employees issued by C. B. Ellinger, third assistant postmaster general. He asked employees to be on the alert for letters and parcels appearing to have a philatelic value, urging that they be given a clear cancellation with black ink and that care be used not to obliterate the stamp.

Golden Rule Old Warning

It is not known just how the verse of scripture was first named the Golden Rule. It is found in the English language as early as 1674, when it is cited in Murray's Oxford dictionary.

Savages Have Natural Religion

All savages have a natural religion which is a survival of, and is analogous to, a stage of belief which existed among the ancestors of the civilized peoples of today.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—There are very definite reasons for this republican campaign of silence which prevails at the present time.

Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican National committee, attempted at the close of the special session of congress to conduct a series of political revival meetings, but there came a report that many of the republican leaders objected.

They expressed themselves as believing that this is no time for anything like that, for the reason, it was said, that there are no outstanding issues at the present.

At any rate, Sanders soon called off his conference and made a trip to Europe.

Watching And Waiting

The strategy of the G. O. P. leaders seems to be one of watchful waiting. They are waiting for the break.

Political precedents indicate to them that they will recapture some of the seats in the house that they lost in the Roosevelt landslide of last year.

Some of them feel perhaps that the hope of recapturing control of the house soon is a forlorn one, but that enough will return to the fold to give them something to work on.

Meanwhile thoughts of the presidential campaign in 1936 or conflicting personal political ambitions take secondary places. Political parties usually return to power by trying first to gain control of one of the houses of congress.

The Penrose Plan

THE late Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania is credited with having said back in 1912, when told that the republican party's decision to renominate President Taft would result in a split and wreckage on election day: "What of it so long as we control the wreckage?"

Eight years later Penrose and the Old Guard republicans were in complete political control of the country again. And that, whether four, eight or 12 years, was what Penrose had in mind.

Breaks Coming—They Hope

POLITICAL issues will begin to be clarified as soon as congress gets back to Washington next January. It will be then that permanent legislation, embracing the workable parts of recovery machinery set up in the special session, must be written into law.

Republicans are hoping that there is where they will begin to get the breaks, politically speaking. Until then they are likely to keep silent.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. COULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

It won't seem like the same old amateur golf championship at Kingston this September without the popular Bostonian, Francis Outmet, who lost a highly dramatic playoff to his old rival, Ed Lee Gifford, for the last sectional qualifying place in the New England district.

The unfortunate part about it is that Outmet has a record for consistent participation in the national tournament already in his possession, also happens to be playing just about as good golf now as at any time in his career. That he had a slightly off-day in the sectional eliminations does not alter the fact that he returned to win the championship in 1931, after a 17-year interval, and was a semi-finalist last year at Five Farms, unmaking one streak of unbeatable golf as he negotiated nine holes against George Voigt in a record of 30.

No other player, including Chick Evans, can match Outmet's achievement in being a participant in every national amateur championship tournament from 1913 to 1932, inclusive. Only once during that time did he fail to qualify for the match play. That was at Oakmont in 1925, when the qualifiers were limited to 16 and Francis lost a playoff for the last place.

Outmet, in addition to his championship victories in 1914 and 1931, was runner-up to Chick Evans in 1920 and a semi-finalist in six other tournaments. Last year he yielded to Johnny Goodman, mainly because the Nebraska "knight" enjoyed one of his scoring streaks during which he shot 18 consecutive holes, from the 7th to the 24th, in exactly 66 strokes. Even then the match went to the 34th green before Goodman stopped the veteran Walker Cup champion.

Bad Break for Some.

The workings of the United States Amateur Golf Association's sectional eliminations may be quite fair enough for all concerned, giving the qualifying opportunity to a much wider field than would be possible if the list were arbitrarily made up on the basis of the season's records, club handicaps and sectional claims.

For example, for several years Portland (Ore.) has not had a share of the qualifying place in proportion to this western city's wealth of golfing talent. It may be Portland's fault in not building up a bigger entry but it is nevertheless unfortunate when such players as Dr. Oscar P. Willing and Don Moe, despite fine scores, fail to qualify because only two places are available—these going to Frank Dolp's 138 and Scotty Campbell's 140.

These were among the best scores anywhere in the land and both Willing and Moe would have qualified with plenty to spare in a district with a bigger quota.

A Solution.

To cover such contingencies as well as cases like that of Outmet, the U. S. G. A. might reserve a dozen places more for recognized stars or former champions, giving them the benefit of the doubt where qualifying circumstances or luck were against them for a day. This would come under the heading of favoritism, perhaps, but it would strike a popular note among golfers in general, besides assuring more representative field for the amateur championship.

Probably a better plan would be to exempt from qualifying sectionally the following year all 32 players who reached the match play stage of the tournament proper.

Kingston Cops Meet Highland Tonight

Weather permitting, the Kingston police will tackle the Highland American Legion baseball team at the Athletic Field this evening. Starting time of the game is 6 o'clock sharp. It is expected that a crowd will witness the tilt, proceeds of which will go to the police pension fund. No admission will be charged but a collection will be taken on the field.

Although Sergeant James V. Simpson was too busy with police matters today to be seen regarding the lineup for the contest, indications were that the cops would take the field with the following array of talent. Fred Stout, pitcher; Gene Rider, catcher; Ted Cramer, first base; Pete Kersman, second; William Leonard, shortstop; Edward "Chick" Leonard, third base; Stanley Madajewski, Stewart and Mahoney, outfielders.

Tom McGrane, regular third sacker, and George Bowers, utility outfielder, will not be available brother officers said, as they are in New York to attend the double-header between the Giants and Pittsburgh. It is presumed Tommy and George motored to the big city to get some pointers for the coming game between the Kingston and Newburgh police. This contest is scheduled for Wednesday, August 30, at the Kingston Fair Grounds. Proceeds of this meeting will also go to the pension fund.

Grounds Too Wet For St. Remy Game

The scheduled contest between Connelly and Clew's Dairy at St. Remy this evening has been postponed until Thursday on account of wet grounds. If it rains tomorrow the match will be held Friday evening.

Sunday at St. Remy: The Connelly club will tackle the Kingston Seniors in a game that is expected to furnish the home boys with their toughest opposition of the season.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Lightning seldom strikes twice in the same spot but National League contenders, harking back to 1914, are casting an apprehensive eye on the exploits of the Boston Braves.

There's still a long hard struggle ahead of Bill McKeehan's hopefuls before they can rival the feat of the Braves of 19 years ago who climbed from last place on July 4 to win the pennant and then the world series in successive games from the Philadelphia Athletics.

Their fourth straight triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates and their 17th victory in 21 games yesterday sent the Braves flying into second place, seven games behind the New York Giants. McKeehan's crew was in fifth place when their winning streak began 24 days ago.

Wally Berger's 22nd homer in 14th inning gave the Braves yesterday a 5-4 decision over the Pirates yesterday and ruined what otherwise was an all but perfect job of relief pitching by the veteran Walter Hoyt.

Sharing the headlines with the Boston Braves were the Detroit Tigers snapping the 15-game winning streak of the Washington Senators with a thrilling 10-8 triumph. The Senators' defeat, coupled with the New York Yankees' victory over the Cleveland Indians, clipped Washington's American League lead to seven and a half games.

A triple by Bill Dickey in the ninth followed by a single by pinch hitter Joe Sewell enabled the Yankees to nose out the Indians, 4-3. Vernon Gomez allowed only four hits and fanned ten. Home runs by McNair, Higgins and Finney helped the Athletics turn back the St. Louis Browns, 7-6 while the Chicago White Sox took two games from Boston, 8-1 and 4-0.

Polish Nine Will Play Across Creek

The P. N. A. baseball team will go to Port Ewen Sunday afternoon for a skirmish with the Port Ewen Firemen at Hercules diamond, where a large turnout of fans is expected to witness the contest. At first, the game was scheduled for Eastbrook Park, Delaware avenue, but that field being unavailable, the scene of battle was changed to Port Ewen.

Both the P. N. A. and Port Ewen were victorious last Sunday, and are strong to continue on the winning road. The Polish boys trimmed the Poughkeepsie P. N. A. at Haebruck Park and the Firemen went to St. Remy, defeating Connelly by the lopsided tally of 6-0.

CLINTONDALE

Clinton, Aug. 22.—The chief social event of the week was the supper on the rocks, each camper cooking his own share. After supper a delightful surprise party was given in honor of the birthday of Miss Elizabeth Keator. Among the guests were Joe Keator, the famous artist, whose summer home is at Arden. He was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Elsie Keator, and his niece, Mrs. Elsie Keator. The many presents were a lovely pen and ink sketch given to Miss Keator by Mr. Keator. Also an autographed copy of one of Mr. Keator's first sketches. After the refreshments of cake, ice cream, candy and fruit punch, dancing was enjoyed. Later Mr. Keator sang a few of his beautiful Russian songs. Everyone left wishing he could be able to celebrate his birthday on the morrow.

Among the many week-end guests during the early part of this month were Mrs. H. Klein, Alfred Klein, Miss Veronica Ott, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Snyder and son of Hoboken, N. J., also Mr. and Mrs. Erbert, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Erbert, Jr., and family of New Falls.

The two latest campers to spend the rest of the summer are Miss Susanne Walther of Hoboken, N. J., who was here last summer, and Miss Marie Grennan of Glen Cove, Long Island.

Last Tuesday five of the campers went to enjoy a game of bridge at the home of Mrs. Hoffman. The rest of the campers went to visit the ever fascinating village of Woodstock as many of them had never been there before. After visiting the various places of interest they stopped at "The Nook" and had a light lunch. They returned home to find themselves locked out as the others were in possession of the keys. They waited patiently until the rest of the party came home.

On Saturday Mrs. Agnes DeHart and Wallace Crawford of Dobbs Ferry and Mrs. Albert Washington and daughter, Brooklyn, N. Y., came to spend the day.

One day two of the campers while walking up to meet the ever popular mail carrier, Mr. Maines, saw two beautiful deer. Being the first time they had ever seen deer they rushed back to tell the rest.

Wednesday of last week five ambitious campers left camp early in the morning deciding to hike around through the beautiful country of Atwood and Olive Bridge, then to the Ashokan reservoir. They walked 10 miles and returned to camp tired but happy that they had accomplished this feat.

The week-end guests this week included Mrs. R. Burnett and daughter of Aurora, Illinois, Miss Veronica Ott, Alfred Klein of Hoboken, Miss Helen Spielman and Carl Spielman of New York city.

The early part of this week two new campers, John Seimhauser of Zurich, Switzerland, and Harry Vohs of South Ozone, Long Island, came to spend the week.

Mr. Seimhauser says that the beautiful woods and the lake remind him of the woods and Alpine lakes of his native country, Switzerland.

Also he likes to loaf on the rocks at the far end of Stillwater Lake.

Quoting from Mr. Vohs, "There is nothing more pleasing in this beautiful wild country than a long tramp through the woods amidst dry leaves and broken twigs of which nature has been very bountiful and scattered them in her many paths like carpets in the library of a New York hotel."

The war prison, which was housed in the prison after it was taken to Chicago, is in the possession of the Chicago Historical society. WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Aug. 23.—All sympathize most keenly with the members of the Dolan family, having their late country estate at West Shokan Heights, in the tragic drowning last week of the eldest son, Thomas, who met an untimely death while swimming in the treacherous water pool in the Esopus gorge below the Ashokan dam. The funeral of this fine young man was held at Holbrook, Long Island, the permanent home of the Dolan family.

There was the usual full attendance at the weekly Saturday night dance at College Hall. Frank Constance and his Royal Belles presented a highly pleasing variety program.

Virgil C. Gordon, of Brodhead, Department of Water Supply foreman and Mr. Murphy, veteran Ashokan Headworks rate tender, enjoyed an all day outing Sunday on a trip to Mont V. Simpkins as master of ceremonies. At the close of the session refreshments were served in abundance in the spacious downstairs auditorium.

Backing Out.
"To back out of a thing" conveys the idea of getting out of a thing clumsily or awkwardly, suggested by the backing of a horse out of a stable.

First on "Political Economy"
Sir James Steuart's 1300 page book, in 1767, was the first in English with the title of "Political Economy."

The Horrible Reward

By MARY GRAMM SOMMER

As Rip was over toward the car to take the bone held out to him he noticed that the man drew back his arm a little so that Rip had to move closer.

There was a smell about the man he didn't like although it was certainly a doggy smell.

"Willy Nilly has told me," Rip said to himself, "that I shouldn't suspect creatures when I don't know whether they're good or bad, and probably I have the wrong opinion of this man."

"He doubtless owns many dogs and always carries bones around with him. I remember when I suspected the woodchuck that time of stealing the silver. Willy Nilly told me it wasn't nice of me."

So now Rip wagged his tail, the man opened the door of the car and Rip reached for the bone. As he did so the man yanked him into the car, and started off at a great rate.

Rip whimpered a little, because he did not want to get any further away from home, but perhaps he could show the man where he wanted to go and maybe he would drive him home. So Rip began eating the meat on the bone. Oh, but he was hungry.

"Well," the man muttered to himself, "now I've made a little money. I didn't believe I'd see any stray dogs any more today. But I'm in luck. This dog has no license. The dog catcher will give me a reward for finding another dog for him."

He didn't realize that Rip could understand as much human talk.

"Oh, oh, oh," cried Rip, "let me go! Let me go!" And he tried to jump from the car, but the man pushed him down on the floor.

New Play Scheduled At Maverick Friday

The first new play to be produced at the Maverick this season will be "Lulu", a gay comedy by Edwin O'Hanlon, opening Friday, August 25, and playing Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

A special cast has been brought up from New York for this play, prominent among whom are Augusta French, in the title role, Evelyn Berensford, well-known English comedienne, James McLaughlin, Richard Bengali and Gardiner Watkins, brother of Linda Watkins.

Wells Richardson, who added new laurels to himself for his sterling performance of the politician in "Tommy", will have the role of an English gentleman; Jean Bellows is also in the cast.

Many New York producers are interested in this play, and will be in Woodstock to see it.

Motion picture companies are also interested, particularly Paramount, as they are considering it as a possible vehicle for Mae West.

The seriousness of the epidemic in St. Louis and St. Louis county is reflected in the mounting list of fatalities.

During the last 24 hours the deaths of an elderly woman, a middle-aged man and a 3-year-old child brought the number of victims of the epidemic—in less than four weeks' time—to within one of the fatalities in the Spokane, Wash., outbreak from 1919 to 1921, when nineteen lives were claimed, but in a three-year period.

Previously, the federal public health service had regarded the Spokane outbreak as the country's worst, but the number of patients there did not compare with those already ill here.

In addition to the deaths here, the number of reported cases has risen to 122, of which 145 are in St. Louis county and 37 in the city of St. Louis.

PROVOCATIVE JADE

New York—Keep your eye on the changing skirt silhouette. That is, if you can take it off all the gay goings-on around the shoulders. One hears a great deal about the line being straight and slim, then sees a great deal to contradict it. There are skirts of practically every known kind launched. We shall have to wait a bit to see which really are the successful ones. There is the tubular skirt, the skirt bunched within an inch of its knees, the skirt with panels, the wrap around skirt and the skirt with black fullness, not to mention the skirt with tunic. Let the determining factor be the fabric, and the purpose of the gown.

For evening, our mode is still Edwardian. We are greatly inclined to princess lines, and even that is often coupled with back fullness. Diksha, a name you are less familiar with than others of the house, court, is partial to the princess, plus the full back, and employs it for afternoon dresses.

The model sketched is shown for those who are not given to extremes. It is a wearable type with no age limit and equally pretty in color with a touch of another. The sleeve is effective, with its barrel hoop effect midway, but there are many interesting sleeves this year. Heretofore, fullness has been placed at, or near, the shoulder, but at some of the openings the spectators were greeted by models the sleeves of which were full at the wrist or below the elbow.

It may make it easier to understand, and to reconcile these conflicting lines if we remember that they are all chosen to make the waistline seem slim. And if you pause, and review what you have read of the various silhouettes shown, you cannot avoid the conclusion that the waistline has at last found its natural resting place.

Peplums and tunics are words that creep into these first cabled reports but which seem perfectly justified now that the actual models are on view.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

These collections continue to place most emphasis on black, for daytime and dinner wear, often relieved not only by white, but by pink, blue, and even red.
